MEMORANDUM FOR: Executive Director

FROM: Director of Central Intelligence

SUBJECT: Agency's Relationship with the PFIAB

1. I think we should have a review of the Agency's relationship with the PFIAB. I'd like to know the frequency with which the past Directors and Deputies met with the PFIAB since its inception, the number, tempo and nature of the subjects which the PFIAB raised with the Agency, and anything that can be developed about results and contributions derived from this process.

2. My purpose in this is the notion that earlier PFIABs tackled a few important subjects and did something substantial and concrete with them, whereas I am a little concerned about the current PFIAB's attempts to scatter their seed, poke into everything, important and unimportant, and consume a lot of time and effort that could otherwise be devoted to certain policymakers.

3. Did the earlier PFIABs have a subcommittee structure? My recollection when I was there was that now and then three or four members would take a look at economic intelligence, competitive analysis, control of the sea lanes, etc. They would do a substantial piece of work and weren't poking into 43 different subjects.
